Terms and Conditions

Your payment of a deposit for participation on this tour constitutes your acceptance of these conditions:

- Cancellation/refund: Cancellation from time of deposit to January 11, 2019 will result in a cancellation fee of $750 per person. Cancellations after final payment will result in 100% penalty unless space can be resold. There will be no refund for unused services or tickets once the tour begins. Trip cancellation insurance is strongly recommended and can be purchased separately. A form for trip cancellation insurance will be sent to you upon request.
- Responsibility: Protravel International, Inc., the Asheville Art Museum (herein known as the AAM), and their principals have contracted with independent contractors to provide accommodations, transportation, meals, or other services, and are not responsible for actions or omissions, casual or intentional, or any breach of contract which may occur on the part of a supplier that causes loss, delay, injury, or damage to the client or other tour members. If the client agrees to travel on this tour, the client assumes voluntarily any risks that accompany such travel, whether those risks are expected or not. Protravel, the AAM, and their principals are also not responsible for losses, damages, or injuries to tour members in connection with such things as diseases, weather, terrorism, social unrest, mechanical or construction problems, or any other omissions, actions, or situations outside their control. Tour members are warned here about those risks and might wish to purchase insurance coverage regarding them. Protravel, the AAM, and their principals use generally acceptable suppliers for their programs. The client agrees that they are not to blame should there be problems with arrangements, and also agrees that any claims of damages must be sought from those suppliers directly. If the damages occur before or after the tour booking and travel period, Protravel, the AAM, and their principals shall be considered totally blameless. Pricing based on rates of exchange, local tax rates, airfare tariffs both domestic and international, as of November 15, 2018, and are subject to change.
